TWO MEN KILLED ISIDRO BACA, IS LATEST EVIDENCE

Under Sheriff Lewis Determines That Shells Found Near Body Were Fired From Different Guns.

Further investigation of the murder of Isidro Baca yesterday convinced Under Sheriff Dick Lewis that there were two assassins. Examination of the shells found near the body, under a strong glass, showed that they had been fired from two different guns.

Shells of two sizes were picked up by Under Sheriff Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Quintero Coulter near the spot where Baca fell. The officers now have in their possession six shells, four 16-gauge and two 12-gauge. The smaller gauge shells might have been fired from the larger gun, the officers were informed by a gun expert.

Dents in Caps Differ. That this was not the case was learned by Mr. Lewis who, with the aid of a strong microscope, detected a difference in the impression made by the firing pin in the caps of the shells. This, and the fact that the paper part of the 12-gauge shells had not spread indicated that a 16-gauge and a 12-gauge gun had been used against Baca.

Under Sheriff Lewis and Assistant District Attorney E. J. Jamison made a trip to La Canada and the scene of the murder yesterday. It was learned that a man at the Jones place heard the shooting. He also heard a man, probably Baca, yelling. After the fourth shot the shouts ceased, he said. The inquiry will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon before Justice D. E. Salas at the courthouse.

TWO DIVORCE CASES ARE FILED IN OFFICE OF DISTRICT CLERK

Two divorce complaints were filed yesterday with District Clerk Thomas K. D. Maddison. Mrs. Mae Thacker, wife of Charlie Thacker, is the plaintiff in one and Manuel Lopez, husband of Mrs. Leonor de Lopez, instituted the other.

Mrs. Thacker charges her spouse with non-support, saying he refused to support her and that she had to work. She asserts he struck her once on a public street. She asks for reasonable alimony. They were married here May 3, 1914.

Lopez accuses his wife of abandonment. She left him, saying she no longer loved him, according to his complaint. She has been living near Clifton, Ariz. The wife has custody of their one daughter, Susana, 13 years old. They were married August 15, 1909, at Old Albuquerque.

Officers of the Non-Sectarian Benevolent association filed a petition saying they want to transfer their property at Third street and Mountain road to the city to be used exclusively as a home for the poor and needy. The association has held no meetings for more than two years and no one has paid dues, they say.

The First Savings Bank and Trust company, as assignee of Albert Faber, was authorized to declare a dividend of 50 per cent to be paid upon all approved claims. The fee allowed was $250.

CONTRACTS LET FOR CITY SCHOOL IMPROVEMENTS

Plumbing, Painting and Other Repairs Provided For at Meeting of Board of Education Last Night.

At a meeting of the city board of education held last night at which every member was present except H. S. Lithgow, who had been called out of the city, contracts were let involving the expenditure of several thousand dollars for repairs and improvements to the schools.

At a recent meeting of the board the building committee, consisting of H. S. Lithgow and Louis A. McTear, was authorized to ascertain what work was needed to put the various school buildings in first-class shape and to accept bids for the work. It was found that in some of the schools the plumbing was badly in need of repair, that the walls needed painting and tinting, that new floors were required and that various minor repairs were in order.

The building committee accordingly went to work and had local firms bid on the work that was needed. It submitted to the board last night its report with recommendations as to the letting of the contracts, and the report was unanimously adopted and the action of the committee ratified.

Successful Bidders. The Sanitary Plumbing & Heating Co. gets the contract for installing new plumbing in the First, Second and Third ward buildings. Its bid being $2,140. Other bidders were the Irving Hardware company, $2,578; 45; Dunbar & Beauchamp, $2,552; Beaman & Ayer, $2,583; J. M. Vickery, $2,340; and N. J. Struminski, $2,644.

The painting and tinting of the First and Fourth ward schools is to be done by Charles C. Noremman & Son, for $621. Chauvin & Vanderoyt were given the contract on the Second and Third ward schools at $476, and Charles Quier will do the work on the Central school building at $298.50.

The contract for flooring and minor repairs was let to M. P. Sawtelle, his bid being $1,720. Other bids were: H. P. Mohr, $2,112.02; J. W. McQuade, $1,719; Wallace Hesseldehn, $1,990; Lyon & Axel, $2,084.49; and E. A. Geritz, $1,957.

Rice, city physician, expects to have a chemist's report on the contents of the stomach this morning.

PLUMBING BOARD IS EXONERATED BY THE COUNCIL

Charges of Unfairness Made by M. W. Linthicum Are Found to Be Baseless by Building Committee.

The board of plumbing examiners was exonerated of charges made by M. W. Linthicum in the report of the building committee presented to the council last night. The council concurred in the report.

Linthicum said in his complaint that he came here in the spring from Newton, Kas., where he had been a plumber for six years, and bought an interest in a plumbing company. He did several jobs which were approved by the inspector and finally was called upon by the board to take an examination, he said.

He says he answered all their questions and stood their strictest examination "except in a few particulars as to the practical part." He excused this by saying he was a little "rusty" because of his long occupation as a master plumber instead of journeyman. He brushed up on practical workmanship and took another examination, which he said he passed.

Given Another Examination. The committee reported it failed to find cause for Linthicum's charges and found that Linthicum failed to pass either of the examinations. The board has granted him another examination upon the committee's advice.

The board was exonerated from any and all blame. City Attorney Gladding and City Attorney Wilkerson were instructed to draw up an ordinance requiring a maintenance bond of sidewalk contractors. Hereafter they have been required to give a bond that protects only the city and not the property owner. It is likely that the present ordinance will be amended so as to make the one bond protect both.

A general discussion of liquor licenses started when Dr. R. L. Hunt presented an ordinance fixing the license for wholesale malt liquor dealers at $100 a year. This would affect two dealers, it was said.

"Why not leave the license for malt dealers as it is now and raise wholesale dealers in spirituous liquors," asked Councilman George C. Scher. "We need the money."

"The fellow who sells $10,000 worth of shoes has to pay just as much occupation tax as the fellow who sells $10,000 worth of stockings," commented Alderman Ivan Grunfeld. "If a man takes a bicycle license he can't drive an automobile," said Dr. Hunt.

"We ought to increase our revenue instead of cutting it," said Mr. Grunfeld. "Leave the wholesale license where it is for malt dealers and raise it for the others," advocated Councilman S. B. Coen.

Councilman G. B. Hammond suggested that action be deferred until the council had "more time to think about it." A suggestion was made that all liquor licenses be revised. The library ordinance was placed upon its third reading.

Heating Plant Franchise Road. The franchise for the central heating plant came up for its second reading and was passed on to the next meeting to be further amended. One or two slight changes were made last night. Mr. Hammond attempted to make amendments to which W. L. Staley objected. They were defeated by a vote of four two. Mr. Grunfeld voting with Mr. Hammond and Alderman Coen, Gibson and Scher against him. Dr. Hunt had gone by this time.

One of Mr. Hammond's amendments called for the furnishing of the city hall and public buildings with free heat when the main were extended by them. Mr. Staley said the company could not give away heat without making consumers pay. Replying to Mr. Hammond's contention that the city should get some consideration for a valuable franchise, he asked if taxable property worth from $200,000 to $200,000, cleaner buildings, and lessening of fire danger, were not something.

"If we can't agree upon an ordinance that will protect the people, we'd better drop it right here," declared Mr. Hammond after the defeat of his amendment. He made motion to table it. There was no second. He then moved to adjourn. There was no second to this.

Mr. Grunfeld then smoothed matters by suggesting that the council and Mr. Staley get together and agree upon an ordinance satisfactory to all. With this in view the second reading was not completed, which leaves the franchise open for further amendment when it is considered next.

The council voted to pay Assistant City Engineer Dennis Chavez salary during the time he was at the San Diego exposition and Patrolman Pablo Lujan's salary during the time he was off duty on account of the death of his son. It was learned that they had paid the men who took their places in their absence.

"Graustark" is a picture of gripping dramatic interest, dramatized from the novel of the same name. The plot is one which holds one with an intensity that never flags.

Grenfell Lorry, a wealthy young American, meets a beautiful girl on an express train en route to Washington and aids her to overtake the train by a thrilling coach ride through the mountains, when they are left behind at a small mining town. Lorry learns her name is Guggenlocker. He follows her to Edelweiss, in Graustark, her home. On the way he meets an old college friend, Harry Anguish, and they make the journey together.

Lorry meets Miss Guggenlocker on the street and obtains a faint smile of recognition. That night he and Anguish overhear a plot to abduct the Princess Yette. Lorry and Anguish enter the castle by stealth and Lorry is amazed to find Miss Guggenlocker is her royal highness, Princess Yette of Graustark. He saves her from the ruffians. Lorry learns that Yette faces a serious crisis. Two suitors clamor for her hand—Prince Lorenz of Aphlain, and Gabriel, Prince of Darnburg. Graustark must pay an enormous war indemnity to Aphlain, marriage to Lorenz grants Yette an extension of time to meet the payment. Failure to do so means the signing away of almost her entire principality. Lorry's great love for the girl determines him to save her. He and Anguish are certain that Prince Gabriel was the man who plotted to abduct Yette. Because of his rank they dare not accuse him. In despair Yette promises to wed Lorenz. That night the prince, intoxicated, insults Yette and is knocked down by Lorry. A duel is arranged, but Lorenz is found slain in his bed. Lorry is accused of the murder and is imprisoned.

Yette aids him to escape. Prince Bolare, father of the slain prince, arrives in Edelweiss, and offers Yette an extension of time for paying the debt if Lorry is captured and executed. The persistent Gabriel presses his offer of marriage. Yette orders him from the castle. That night Lorry escapes from the monastery, gains entrance to the castle and surprises Yette in her boudoir. He swears he will give himself up for execution and save her kingdom. Next morning, in the throne room, Gabriel accuses Yette of consoling Lorry, but is frustrated by Lorry bursting in and offering his life for the princess. Yette declares her love for Lorry and begs Bolare for mercy. Bolare angrily refuses and demands Lorry's death. Anguish suddenly confronts Gabriel and accuses him of Lorenz's murder. Gabriel confesses. Bolare then makes an alliance with Graustark. Lorry weds the princess and is crowned.

The cast is one of the most notable that ever took part in a moving picture performance. It is as follows: Grenfell Lorry, Francis X. Bushman; Princess Yette, Beverly Bayne; Countess Dagmar, Edna Mayo; Uncle Caspar, Thomas Commerford; Aunt Yvonne, Helen Harber; Harry Anguish, Albert Roscoe; Prince Gabriel, Lester Cuneo; Prince Lorenz, Bryant Waghorn; Prince Bolare, Ernest Maupain.
